Product Owner - Platform

ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

As a Product Owner, you will play a central role in a fast-growing team. Primarily, you represent the customer to the development team. As a PO you understand the market, the customers and the business.

For new features, you will manage product development projects from start to finish. You are available to the development team to answer any questions team members have regarding the customer's view of how they are implementing a product feature. You will monitor progress of the projects and coordinate QA of these features.

You will also organize the inflow of product feedback from customers via Sales & Product Experts. With this feedback, you help to define and prioritize stories, based on user value, time and team dependencies. You help building and maintaining the product roadmap.

SKILLS

- A Bachelor in Informatics or equivalent through experience in software
- Knowledge of the Cloud, preferably AWS, and SAAS products
- Knowledge of Software Development and Software Development Processes
- Ability to bridge from Product Development to Software Development
- Excellent communication skills with the ability to engage and influence
- Strong analytical and problem-solving abilities
- Excellent organizational and time management skills
- A team player with a flexible attitude
- You love working with cross-functional teams to deliver on a common goal
- Fluent in English
- A minimum of 5 years professional experience in a project management role
